

The Seventh Sun

"News from the virtual world"

To Our Readers:

The Second Lives of San Diegans

Well, now our dear Pollywog is out of the closet. She appeared with her alter ego, real-life publisher Claire Condra, on the cover of the November 21, 2007 edition of the San Diego Reader:

www.sdreader.com/php/cover.php?mode=article&showpg=1&id=20071121

The article, "The Second Lives of San Diegans," is written by Geoff Bouvier and profiles the work of three San Diegans. In addition to a section devoted to Claire/Pollywog and her work on The Seventh Sun, there are sections describing avatar Jopsy Pendragon (alter ego: John P. Crane) and avatar Champion Valiant (alter ego: Dr. Robert Hippen, owner of Diegoland).

Another San Diegan, Mitch Wagner of InformationWeek (avatar Ziggy Figaro), says that this may be one of the most comprehensive and extensive articles ever written about Second Life. Geoff does a wonderful job of exploring the creative uses of Second Life through the lives of real people.

And, yes, I'm mentioned there as well.

Surfdaddy Orca (alter ego: Greg Campbell)